LG (LISE) POMERLEAU, AUTHOR OF BECOMING SAND

EVANESCENCE GALLERY

1 PM Sunday, December 15, 2013

Becoming Sand is a gripping work of Canadian literary fiction that sweeps the reader back in time, through generations of decisions that lead to the separation and disintegration of one family. Author LG Pomerleau, a descendant of one of the founding families of Quebec, weaves a tale so fast-paced and enthralling, filled with tension, deceit, and heartbreaking realism, it cannot be put down. For more information or to RSVP phone Evanescence Gallery at 403-652-2512 Lise's biography can be found on her website <http://lgpomerleau.com/bio/>

DOING THINGS A LITTLE BIT DIFFERENTLY!

Evanescence Gallery has had to significantly rebrand in the past few months and a lot of people are wondering exactly what kind of a store we are. Although our original building is still under repair, ‘the building blocks’ of our great little gallery are still in place; our personal and knowledgeable service and attention to representing the work of makers (of handmade fine craft works and original art). We still carry a small selection of art materials and books by local and regional authors and we have recently expanded to include a number of other wonderful and unique treasures while still concentrating heavily on Canadian-made and fair-trade products. From our extensive collection of designer cards, jewelry created from antique silver spoons and Bon Bon Lip Balms (complete with kissing tips), we continue to grow and expand our selection to bring High River the best of original art, memorable gifts and personal care items. If you haven’t been in for awhile, we welcome your next visit!

NEW IN DECEMBER!
